

'RECORD' DERAILED

By JEREMY OLSHAN

August 24, 2006 -- The next stop will not be the record books for the two MetroCard Magellans seeking to navigate the entire subway system in less than 25 hours and 11 minutes.

No matter what time Matthew Green, 26, and Donald Badaczewski, 24, finish this morning, Guinness World Records officials say the duo will have failed because "they did not follow the rules."

According to Guinness, the "rules" require riders to stop at every station.

http://www.nypost.com/news/regionalnews/record_derailed_regionalnews_jeremy_olschan.htm